GATHERING

Of Great Churchmen Will Attend Eucharistic Congress in September.

Cardinal Vannutelli Will Come as Holy Father's Special Legate.

Elaborate Programme Provided For Solemnities of the Week.

HIBERNIANS WILL PARTICIPATE

The Eucharistic Congress to be held in Montreal, Canada, September 6 to 17, will be the greatest church event of the year in America, if not in the world. Montreal is an old Catholic city, in fact the oldest in North America, hence it has been called the Rome of America. It is expected that three Cardinals, two archbishops, 120 bishops and several thousand priests will gather for the occasion. Of course this means that innumerable laymen from many lands will visit Montreal, but less than 10 per cent. of those assembled will be able to get a glimpse of all the solemnities. The Congress is purely spiritual in character, and is thus described in the announcement of the programme made at Montreal:

"The main object of the work of Eucharistic Congresses, which were inaugurated some thirty years ago, is to promote the knowledge, love and service of our Lord Jesus Christ in the most holy sacrament of the altar; to assert his sovereign rights by solemn manifestations and to strive thereby to extend his social reign throughout the world. Hence it is that among the many Congresses that are being held everywhere Eucharistic Congresses are second to none in dignity and excellence.

Pope Plus X. will be represented at the Congress by Cardinal Vincenzo Vannutelli, Prefect of the Apostolic Signature, of Rome, and Cardinal Protector of the Sulpician Order. He is one of the most distinguished Princes of the church, both in his striking appearance and in the record of his accomplishments. His Cardinalate is that of St. San Sylvester Incofite, the name of the English speaking Roman Catholic congregation at home. Cardinal Vannutelli was born in 1837 and was created Cardinal in 1889. Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore, head of the American hierarchy, and Cardinal Logue, Primate of all Ireland, will be the other Princes of the church to attend the Eucharistic Congress.

Cardinal Vannutelli will arrive in Canada a week or two before the opening of the solemnities, but will remain strictly incognito. Mayor E. C. Guerlin, an Irish Catholic, will welcome the Cardinal to Montreal. Lord Strathcona has placed his residence at the disposal of the Cardinal Legate during his stay.

At a reception to be held by the Congress Committee at St. James' Cathedral Tuesday evening, September 6, the Cardinal Legate will hand his credentials to Archbishop Bruchesi. The following evening a civic reception will be given for the Cardinal Legate and on Thursday the more ceremonial events of the celebration will begin. At midnight a solemn Pontifical mass will be celebrated in Notre Dame church. Only men will be admitted, and the pews will all be removed, affording room for twelve thousand persons on the main floor and in the galleries. Also on Thursday morning the sectional meetings for men, women and priests, to be held separately both in French and in English in different halls Thursday morning there will be a Pontifical mass at St. James' Cathedral for religious communities, and on Friday morning the sectional meetings will continue. Papers of great interest will be read on these occasions.

On Friday morning, September 9, a great open-air service will be held at the foot of Mount Royal. The sermon in English will be delivered by Archbishop O'Connell, of Boston, and in French by Archbishop Touchette, of France. Cardinals Vannutelli, Gibbons and Logue and Archbishop Bruchesi will receive the public in the Archbishop's palace.

St. Patrick's church, the largest English speaking church in the Dominion, will be the scene of a notable ceremony on Saturday, September 10, when Pontifical mass will be celebrated. A procession will be formed under the escort of forty Hibernian Knights, mounted, and the Congress Guard of Honor, a military body organized solely for the week, the uniform of which will be white and gold, the Papal colors. By way of Dorchester street this guard will enter the church grounds by what thereafter will be known as the Congress Gate, and at the same moment will be heard for the first time a new chime of ten bells, which were cast at Whitechapel foundry and dedicated on Pentecost Sunday. Admission to the church will be by ticket only, even for priests. Within the church the sanctuary will be reserved for the Cardinals and the Archbishop. Montreal Cardinal Vannutelli will be the celebrant of the mass, and Archbishop Glennon, of St. Louis, one of the most eloquent of the prelates of the Roman Catholic church in the United States, will preach the sermon.

The culminating feature of the Congress from the standpoint of popular interest will be the solemn profession of the Blessed Sacrament on Sunday, September 11. This procession is a feature of every Eucharistic Congress. World-wide attention was drawn to it two years ago when Mr. Asquith, the British Premier, forbade the carrying of the host in the parade at London. His excuse was that he feared a hostile demonstration. The procession will include all the priests in Montreal, the Hibernian Knights, the Congress Guard and all Catholic organizations which may desire to participate. Sir Wilfred Laurier, the Dominion Premier, members of his Cabinet and members of the Canadian Parliament will walk in that procession.

LIGHT OF FAITH

Given to Learned Minister of the Episcopalian Church.

On the second Saturday in this month the Right Rev. Thomas, M. A. Burke, Bishop of Albany, ordained eleven young men to the priesthood in the Cathedral at Rochester, N. Y. They were all graduates of St. Bernard's Seminary. Twelve other graduates of the same institution have gone to their respective dioceses for ordination. Thus the fame of St. Bernard's Seminary is growing, and it now ranks among the leading Catholic seminaries of the United States.

The life history of one of the newly ordained priests deserves more than passing notice. It is that of Rev. Francis McPetrick, who was for fifteen years one of the best-known members of the Episcopal church in Pennsylvania, and until two years ago rector of St. Simon's parish, Philadelphia. Father McPetrick is a native of Philadelphia. Following his ordination in 1895 he served as minister at St. Barnabas Episcopal church at Reading. The minister who succeeded him there, the Rev. Mr. McGarvey, also joined the Catholic church, and was ordained a priest one week after Father McPetrick. Last Sunday Father McPetrick celebrated high mass in Philadelphia in the same church in which he renounced Protestantism. He has been appointed Professor of English in St. Bernard's Seminary. It is a remarkable coincidence that the Rev. Ludlow E. Lapham, now deceased, who filled this chair before Father McPetrick, was also a convert and an Episcopalian minister.

RECOVERED.

Precious Reliquary Containing Heart of St. Joseph.

Rome cablegrams to the American press say that the precious reliquary, with the heart of St. Joseph, which was stolen from Leonesse last week, has been found. Thus the bubble of an American's theft of the casket has burst and the press has quieted down. The reliquary was found abandoned in a wood nearby. There was such a commotion that evidently the thieves were afraid to carry it away, it being too bulky.

This recalls the time when the marble torso of the famous "torso fountain" in Rome disappeared. The citizens were so furious and kicked up such a row that the thieves understood that they could never sell it, so they threw it away in a public place, where it was soon found.

TRINITY COUNCIL

Will Have Initiatory Ceremonies Tomorrow Afternoon.

Even though the weather was quite warm last Monday night Trinity Council, Y. M. C. A., had its usual large attendance at the meeting and much routine matter was disposed of before President Vic Ecker announced the adjournment. A. G. Schneider, Chairman of the Pledge Committee, reported that the members were working hard and stated that he was satisfied that Trinity would again take the record crowd to Fern Grove on Tuesday, July 19.

Initiatory ceremonies will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, after which refreshments will be served. Next Monday night the election of delegates to the Grand Council will be held, and on the same evening the by-laws of the council, which have recently been revised, will be offered for adoption. This has been a successful year for Trinity Council, and at the present rate will surpass any in its history.

COMMENDABLE APPOINTMENT.

Gol Willson last Saturday announced his appointments for the Kentucky Library Commission. All were received with general satisfaction, especially that of Dr. William D. Bortney, of this city. Dr. Bortney has had experience and will prove one of the most valuable members of the body, and for his selection the Governor will be commended.

POPE'S PRAISE.

The Pope has sent a brief to Archbishop Quigley, of Chicago, highly praising the Catholic Church Extension Society. The Pope has decided to appoint a Cardinal protector of this society, and he will probably name Cardinal Martinelli, Prefect of the Congregation of Rites, who formerly was Papal Delegate in the United States.

DELAY

In Discussion of Vexed Question Prejudicial to Irish Interests.

Budget Not Popular in Ireland and an Outbreak May Occur.

Looked For Conference Is Near But Agreement Not Probable.

GEORGE WANTS IRISH ESTATE

And still there is nothing doing in British Parliament toward settling the vexed question of the veto of the House of Lords. King Edward's death has undoubtedly given a setback to the great constitutional struggle between the two British Houses of Parliament. Should this delay of long duration the result may be damaging to the Irish Parliamentary party. Hence John Redmond and his lieutenants eye askance any propositions for compromise between the Liberal and Tory parties.

The Irish members, having voted for the budget on the strength of Premier Asquith's promise to proceed promptly in the matter of tendering advice to the Crown with respect to the required guarantee, find their position will be uncomfortable in no small degree if this promise is not crowned with speedy performance. The budget is not popular in Ireland, and nothing save the prospect of an early settlement of the national question would have obtained for it the support it received. If that prospect becomes more remote a falling off in subscriptions, if not an actual outbreak against the Irish Parliamentary party, is highly probable.

The British opposed to home rule for Ireland are aware of this, and seek to put off any action looking toward relief for the Irish. They stick to the old idea that the only way to conquer the Irish is to divide them. Redmond and his colleagues have faith in Asquith, but his first attempt to shelve the home rule question will mean the desertion of the Irish party.

Since Parliament resumed its sittings the Government is passing bills at a breakneck speed, always avoiding proposing any but the non-controversial proposals. For the first time in half a century the House of Commons is keeping reasonable hours and alighty rising in time for dinner.

As the time when a conference between the opposing parties must take place approaches the conjectures, rumors and attitude of mind change with every hour. The general impression is that the conference is bound to end rapidly in a hopeless disagreement. On the other hand Premier Asquith has hopes that the conference may end in a settlement of the questions at issue. Mr. Balfour, it is said, is ready to surrender on many points on which everybody expected him to resist to the end. The Tories at last realize that the present House of Lords will no longer be tolerated by the electors of England and they are prepared to meet the coming storm half way by agreeing to even a drastic reform.

One rumor has it that Balfour is willing to accept a purely elective House of Lords. Another rumor is to the effect that he will insist on home rule for Ireland.

The situation, to say the least, is a delicate one, and the Irish leaders fear that the Liberals may rush into some patched up compromise which will offend their own supporters. One thing is certain, the Tories recognize that there is no present chance of their winning the next election and the impossibility of longer defending the House of Lords.

King George remains friendly to Ireland. It is said that he is anxious to ask funds from Parliament with which to establish a royal residence in that country. Some say that the King is very anxious to preside at the opening of an Irish Parliament in Dublin in the event home rule is obtained.

HAPPY FAMILY

Is That of Lawrence Morrissey—Has Fifteen Children.

A family after Roosevelt's own heart is that of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Morrissey, of Peculiar, Neb., whose children number fifteen. They range from thirty-one years to five and all are healthy and happy. In this family are eleven boys and four girls. The father and sons make an oven dozen, enough for a jury in court, and sufficient voters to hold the balance power in a close election district. Mr. Morrissey has always been a Democrat in politics, although he is an admirer of Roosevelt, who once received a picture of the Morrissey family and acknowledged it approvingly.

Lawrence Morrissey, the father, is a native of Ireland, but has lived in Johnson county, Nebraska, since 1867. In 1876 he married Miss Bidget Gould. Sixteen children were born to them, and only one has died. Mr. Morrissey is fifty-three years old and his wife fifty-one. Of the fifteen living children four are married. Mr. and Mrs. Morrissey have seven grandchildren. There is one set of twins in the fifteen children, Martin and Matthew.

Mr. Morrissey has supported himself and family on his Nebraska farm. It is hardly necessary to say that the Morrisseys are Irish Catholics.

MAYOR MCCARTHY

Is a Native of Ireland and a Born Leader of Men.

Hon. Patrick A. McCarthy, the Mayor of San Francisco, denials the language attributed to him in the course of an interview in Chicago. It was alleged that McCarthy became wrothy because Gov. Gillett had ordered summary steps taken to stop the Jeffries-Johnson fight, and that the Mayor had intimated that the Governor had better mind his own business; also that he would use his police force to combat the State militia. Mayor McCarthy admits his chagrin over the Governor's interference, but denies that he had any intention of breaking the law or advising others to do so.

Mayor McCarthy was born in the County Kerry, Ireland, forty-seven years ago. He came to the United States at the age of eighteen. He settled in St. Louis, where he worked at his trade as ship carpenter. There he was one of the organizers of the Carpenters' and Joiners' Union. After five years spent in St. Louis he removed to San Francisco and at once became a figure in labor circles on the Pacific coast. In 1894 he organized the San Francisco Building Trades' Council and was elected its first President. In 1907 he was the Labor candidate for Mayor, but was defeated because the labor vote was divided. In the 1909 election the Labor element was united and McCarthy was elected Mayor. He has always had the hearty support of many leading business men, and when he headed a delegation to Washington during the first week in June he had as his supporting delegates both bank Presidents and labor leaders.

The press of the country seems prone to poke fun at him because he is an Irishman. Mayor McCarthy is able to take care of himself and of San Francisco.

RECENT DEATHS.

The funeral of William McDonald, who died at his home, 1840 Tyler avenue, on Saturday, took place from St. Patrick's church on Tuesday morning. Many friends of the deceased attended the regular mass.

John Vogel died at the home of his father, Anton Vogel, 435 South Seventeenth street, on Saturday night, and his funeral took place from St. Mary's church on Tuesday. The deceased was held in high esteem by all who knew him, and his funeral was largely attended.

William J. Scalley, twenty-six years old and a clerk at the L. & N. railroad office, died at his home, 2031 Portland avenue, on Wednesday morning. The deceased was a son of Officer Patrick Scalley and was well liked by all who knew him. His funeral, which took place from St. Patrick's church on Friday morning, was largely attended.

The funeral of Mrs. Mamie Meyer, the beloved wife of August Meyer, the grocer at Adams and Fulton streets, took place Monday morning from St. Joseph's church with solemn mass of requiem. Mrs. Meyer was twenty-seven years old, and her untimely death is mourned by a wide circle of relatives and acquaintances. Her husband she leaves a small child.

Thomas Cunningham, an old and respected resident of the Dominican parish, died at his home, 1015 South Seventh street, late Saturday night. The deceased was sixty years old. He is survived by his sister, Miss Julia Cunningham, and a niece, Miss Lucy Cunningham. A large number of friends attended his funeral, which took place from St. Louis Bertrand church on Tuesday morning.

The remains of Peter King, who died in New York last Sunday, were brought to Louisville on Tuesday and reposed at the home of his sister, Mrs. Annie O'Connell, 30 Portland avenue, until the funeral on Wednesday morning. He was a pious and devoted man and was a brother of the late John and Martin King. The deceased was admired by many friends and his funeral was largely attended.

ANOTHER SCHOONER

The new schooner building, completed at a cost of $125,000, in St. Mary's parish, of Peoria, Ill., was formally dedicated on Friday afternoon. The dedicatory address was delivered by the Right Rev. John P. Farrelly, Bishop of Chicago.

SIX WOMEN TOMAS.

Six young women received graduation honors from the Academy of Our Lady of Mercy on Friday of last week. They were Misses Jennie E. Gnu, Susan E. Gnu, Emma S. McBride, Clara H. H. Mary J. Keely and Helen C. Cathol. The exercises began at 7 o'clock and continued nearly two hours. The diplomas and prizes were awarded by the Right Rev. Bishop O'Donoghue.

DOMINICANS

Honor Memory of First Bishop of the Diocese of New York.

Archbishop Farley Present at Elaborate Exercises on Sunday.

Native of Ireland Who Attained Prominence in Great Order.

NEVER ABLE TO REACH HIS SEE

Sunday was a great day for the priests and people of St. Vincent Ferrer's congregation, New York City. It was the occasion of the commemoration of the one hundredth anniversary of the Right Rev. Luke Connancan, the first Bishop of New York. Bishop Connancan was a Dominican, and he was eminently fitting that his centennial anniversary should be celebrated in a Dominican church. Bishop Connancan was an Irishman by birth, lived long in Rome before he was elevated to the episcopacy, and then was prevented from reaching his See by war. He never had any opportunity of administering the affairs of his diocese.

His Grace Archbishop Farley presided at the services last Sunday, but the celebrant of the solemn high mass was the Rev. Father Matthew L. Heagan, O. P., the brilliant young Dominican recently elected Provincial of the order. The sermon was preached by the Right Rev. Monsignor Patrick J. Hayes, Chancellor of the Archdiocese of New York. Archbishop Farley gave the final absolution. Many distinguished priests and members of other orders were gathered in the sanctuary. The body of the church was filled with the leading Catholic laymen of the great metropolis.

Bishop Connancan was born in Ireland, but his biographers differ as to whether in 1740 or 1747. Those were hard times for Catholics in Ireland, and young Connancan was sent to Europe to be educated. He pursued his studies at Louvain, Belgium, and in Rome. He was ordained in the Basilica of St. John Lateran. In 1781 he was elected Prior of St. Clement's Convent, a famous house of the Dominicans in Rome. Eventually he became the Master General of the Order and agent at Rome for the Bishops of Ireland.

Bishop Carroll, the first Archbishop of Baltimore, made Father Connancan his special representative at the Vatican, and later suggested him for the post of Bishop of the diocese of New York. Pope Pius VII. appointed him and he was consecrated on April 24, 1808. Bishop Connancan made two efforts to reach America, but failed to elude the searching eyes of Napoleon's emissaries.

He was the bearer of important messages to the Archbishop of New York, also the pallium for that prelate. Hearing that there were American vessels at Leghorn he started for that port with an extraordinary amount of baggage, consisting of a collection of vestments, church furnishings, etc., intended for use in his charge. When he reached Leghorn he found Napoleon had mastered the question of traffic between European ports and North America. The American vessels were not permitted to leave the dock, and the prelate returned to Rome. Two years later he made the last flight. He heard of a vessel to leave from Naples, and secured passports and passage. On his arrival at Naples the validity of his passport was questioned and he was practically held a prisoner until the vessel sailed. He died a few days afterward at Rome in the sixty-eighth year of his age. A Jesuit priest, Father Kohlmann, administered the affairs of the diocese until the arrival of his successor, Bishop Connolly, who also was a Dominican. In the correspondence of Archbishop Troy, of Dublin, there is a statement to the effect that prelate believed Dr. Connancan was arrested because "the French were curious to see the papers of a person so long the agent of the Irish clergy in Rome and going to America as a Bishop."

Father Heagan, who celebrated the centennial anniversary mass, and who is now Provincial of the Dominicans, was formerly stationed at St. Louis Bertrand Convent in this city.

YIELDS NOTHING

But Points in German Letter Are Satisfactorily Explained.

According to a cablegram to the New York Herald some incorrect accounts have been published of the attitude of the Vatican in the settlement of the recent incident with Germany. The cablegram says it is not true that the Holy See has withdrawn the passages which caused the commotion. The Pope merely explained the false interpretation that had been put on them. The encyclical as a whole was meant to glorify the great Catholic reformer St. Charles Borromeo and condemn the heresy of the modernists. The references in it to the Protestant Reformation of the sixteenth century were purely incidental and historical and were never meant to refer to the religious movement of the present day other than as a modernism.

Great satisfaction is felt in Rome that no such misunderstanding has arisen as to the Pope's meaning either in England or the United States. The cablegram speaks for itself, but good Catholics will wait until they hear authoritatively before they believe that the Pope had to explain his language as "purely incidental."

ERIN'S FLOAT

Prominent Feature of Chicago's Sane Fourth Parade.

Things are going well for the promoters of Chicago's sane Fourth of July celebration, which will consist of a great pageant and army maneuvers in Grant Park. The Irish Educational Association will enter a float in the parade. It will represent Ireland educating the world, the scene being a cartoon of Ireland in the seventh century, when that country was the source of European educational activity.

Ireland is typified as a beautiful woman in the costume of the seventh century, with white silk tunic interwoven with threads of gold. Over the shoulders of "Erin" is thrown a great cloak of crimson made in imitation of the cloak worn by Connor MacNasa, King of Ulster in the first century.

The men representing the various nations of continental Europe are clothed in the garments of skins and coarse handwoven cloth in which the warring tribes of Europe of the seventh century dressed. These men are shown approaching Erin to learn from her the graces of literature, the beauties of art, and the science of music and the crafts of industry. The committee in charge of the float will consist of the Rev. J. K. Fielding, Thomas J. Considine, Leo J. Doyle, John Hayes, J. S. Hyland, John J. Mahoney, William McKinley, Frank O'Byrne, John J. Ryan, James J. Stokes and Richard W. Wolfe.

BLESSES ALL.

Pope Plus Spoke in Praise of Religious Liberty in America.

These are warm days in Rome. Nearly all the colleges are closed for the summer and members of the faculties and ecclesiastical students have betaken themselves to the hills for the rest of the summer. At the close of this month the regular Roman season at the Vatican will come to a close. According to the list kept at the Major Domus' office it will prove that a record number of Americans have been admitted to the presence of the Holy Father.

Last week the Pope received three American prelates, Archbishop Moeller, of Cincinnati; Bishop Hennessy, of Wichita, and Bishop Fitzmaurice, of Erie. At his first audience Bishop Hennessy presented a large group of pilgrims organized by Chevalier McGane. The Pope blessed all present and said he intended his blessing to extend to all Americans, whatever their creed. Pope Plus spoke in the highest terms of the religious liberty accorded to the Catholic Church in the United States.

LAWN FETE

Will Aid Noble Work of the Catholic Woman's Club.

The ladies of the Catholic Woman's Club will give a lawn fete and reception on the afternoon and evening of July 12 at Phoenix Hill Park, the proceeds of which will be to further the work being done by this splendid Catholic organization. A large number of attractions have been arranged for the entertainment of the guests, including a euchre both afternoon and evening, and in addition an excellent supper will be served on the grounds. The different booths will be in charge of the ladies of the board, assisted by a large committee. Some of the attractions will include a country store, candy stand, fish pond, lemonade stand, gypsy camp, bean bag games and wheel. It is the earnest hope of the Woman's Club that all of the Catholic ladies and gentlemen of the city will come to this lawn fete, as every effort will be made to have them enjoy the day.

OLD CEDAR GROVE.

Historic Cedar Grove Academy held its annual commencement exercises on Friday afternoon of last week. Miss Josephine Herrmann was the only graduate. She read an essay, and her subject was "What's the Use." It was a discussion of work done during the many years at school and its value. Miss Elizabeth Neale, an undergraduate, delivered an address of welcome. The Right Rev. Bishop O'Donoghue was the chief guest of honor.

URGED TO PERSEVERE.

Advices from Rome say that the Pope, through Cardinal Merry del Val, the Papal Secretary of State, has addressed a letter to the new Bishop of Winona, Monsignor Helfron, at one time President of the ecclesiastical seminary at St. Paul, Minn. The Pope praises him for his conduct of that charge and urges him not to lose his interest in the subject of ecclesiastical education, now that he has been raised to the episcopacy.

DONEGAL

The Picturesque Abounds in Magnificent Bays and Lakes.

Historic Points Scattered Over All Parts of This Old County.

Home of the O'Neills and Tyrconnells For Many Illustrious Ages.

HER TOWNS, CITIES AND RIVERS

The County Donegal is named for the town of the same name. The town took its name from the fortress of the Galls or foreigners, these foreigners being Danes, who settled there at an early period. The county from Inishowen Head to Malinbeg Head is eighty-four miles long. From Bloody Foreland to the boundary, a little south of Castelfinn, it is forty-one miles wide. It has an area of 1,870 square miles and a population of 206,000.

Donegal is a region of mountains and long valleys, and there is a large extent of bog and waste. The only moderately level land lies in the eastern half of the barony of Raphoe and in the southern half of the barony of Fithery. The coast line is broken the whole way around, presenting a grand succession of bays, promontories, cliffs and islands. Donegal is also rich in headlands.

Beginning at the northeast is Inishowen Head. At the northwestern extremity is Malin Head. Dunfin Head and Faad are at either sides of the mouth of Lough Swilly. Horn Head is a lofty rock rising out of the sea in the western side of Sheep Haven. Others are Bloody Foreland, Duvros Head, Malinbeg Head, Carrigan Head, Muckros Head, St. John's Point and Doonin Point. Still another is Slieve League, which rises 1,972 feet steep from the sea. The coast from Carrigan Head round by Glencolumbkille to Loughs Bay exhibits the grandest combination of cliff scenery in Ireland.

Donegal has its mountains and hills, too. The two ranges of the Derryneagh and Glendawson mountains run parallel from northeast to southwest. The highest summit is Dooish, 2,147 feet. It is in the middle of the Derryneagh range over Lough Beg.

The county has its islands, also. Tory Island lies eight miles from the mainland. It is about two and a half miles long, and stands out of the sea so as to appear like a great collection of towers and pinnacles. It contains the ruins of an ancient ecclesiastical establishment, including a round tower, founded in the seventh century by St. Columba. Aran Island contains nearly seven square miles, and rises 750 feet over the sea. Besides there are many little islands in the lakes and rivers. All are full of historic interest.

Two deep bays, Lough Foyle and Lough Swilly, near the county, insulate the barony or townships. Many other bays and harbors indent the coast clear around the country. Donegal has many celebrated and historic streams and rivers. The Foyle separates Donegal from Londonderry. The river is formed by the Finn and the Mourne, which join at Lifford. Other rivers of note are the Eash, the Eaney Water, the Bunclicky, the Glen, the Oweness, the Owenagor, the Gweedore, the Gweebarra, the Swilly, and through Glenbeg, the stream flows northwest which takes successively the names Owenagor, Owenarrow and Lackagh. It flows finally into Lough Swilly, and into the same bay flows the Lennan.

The county is noted also for its fine mountain lakes with splendid scenery. Among the towns in Donegal are Ballyshannon with something under 2,000 population; Bundoran, a famous watering place with less than 1,000; Donegal with 1,400 and Letterkenny, which boasts 2,100 inhabitants. Other and smaller towns, but none the less historic, are Raphoe, Ballyboe and Stranorlar. Raphoe, by the way, is one of the most ancient episcopal sees in Ireland.

Very fine white marble is found at Dunlewy, at the base of Errigal mountain, and near Raphoe there is a formation of atlatite, a soft stone, easily carved and very durable.

Donegal was the ancient Tirconnell, inhabited by the Kinel Connell, who were descended from Connall, son of the great King Niall of the Nine Hostages, who flourished between 378 and 405 A. D., and who possessed nearly all of Donegal. Their inauguration place was the Rock of Doon, near Kilmacrenan. Four miles northwest of Derry, on a hill, is Greenan-Rhy, the ruins of Alceach, the ancient palace of the O'Neills, the Kings of Ulster, who were also for many ages the Kings of Ireland.

Among Kentuckians who boast Donegal as their birthplace are Dr. William B. Doherty, of Louisville, and Col. John J. Dorian, of Paducah. Col. Dorian has made several trips to his native country since he first came to America.

MISSIONS TO NON-CATHOLICS.

The Rev. Father Xavier Sutton, C. P., of Sacred Heart Retreat, is conducting a mission to non-Catholics at Coleburg this week. Tomorrow he will open a similar mission at Lebanon Junction.

ANOTHER YEAR.

The Kentucky Irish American has rounded out another year of its life. It is now twelve years since it made its initial bow. Its work and its efforts to please have been appreciated by many, but at the same time its subscription list has room for improvement. What paper is there that does not try to build up its circulation?

The Kentucky Irish American has tried to give its readers a clean, up-to-date journal. It has fought for the right and has always opposed graft and corruption in politics. This policy it will continue. If you are a subscriber for the Kentucky Irish American, renew your subscription now and show your appreciation of our efforts. Recommend the paper to your friends and see that they subscribe. If you are an advertiser, take advantage of our columns to let the public know what you have for sale. Help the Kentucky Irish American and it will help you.

A WORD FOR THE SISTERS.

The excellent programmes that are given at the commencement exercises of our Catholic schools can not fail to win the heartfelt appreciation of those who attend them, says the Minneapolis Irish Standard. The priests, Christian Brothers and Sisters are to be complimented on the excellency of their work, and of these the latter deserve special mention. These devoted women have chosen to live a life of seclusion from the world and are devoting themselves with heroic valor to the service of God in the noblest of occupations—that of training Christian men and women. Their only pleasures are those they receive from doing their duty, but for them these are the sweetest pleasures in life. Their work is not done for any applause it may merit, but for the greater glory of God, to whose service their lives have been consecrated.

And to what a worthy cause are they devoted. They are implanting Christian ideals in the hearts and minds of the young, and those in turn whose characters have been moulded by their benign influence will go into the world to transmit by example the lessons they have learned. And thus the good results of their labor are not limited but go on accumulating. They are sending refining influences into society, improving the standard of citizenship in the State and nation. The evils, such as divorce, dishonesty and loose morals, that are stalking about defying correction at the hands of legislators, are being more successfully eradicated by this silent army of workers than they can ever be by the most exacting decrees of the highest civil tribunals. The evils that threaten society can be best eradicated by inculcating in the minds of the young a love for God and a horror for all those influences that are debasing. This is what the Catholic sisterhood is doing. To them we owe much, and for the still greater success of their noble work we wish heaven's choicest blessings.

A very large number of Catholics, old as well as young, declares the Denver Catholic Register, sadly need a course of instruction in the catechism. Unfortunately they will not be impressed by our remarks on this subject, as such persons seldom or never read Catholic newspapers.

ROOSEVELT THE PATRIOT.

Theodore Roosevelt is home again after an absence of fifteen months, and his every utterance marks him as the same old Teddy. Neither hunting big game in Africa nor the glamour of European courts affected his Americanism. His foolish friends fooled him in Rome, but Roosevelt took the blame like an American gentleman. His welcome home was an auspicious one, one that would turn the heads of most ordinary mortals, but Teddy is an extraordinary mortal.

That welcome in New York was not the welcome of New York State or city. It was the spontaneous welcome of the entire nation. Mayor Gaynor delivered the formal welcome address to the ex-President, and while his remarks were true and to the point it was the reply of Mr. Roosevelt that won the applause of the multitude. Hear him:

"I have been away a year and a quarter from America, and I have seen strange and interesting things in the heart of the frowning continent. And in the capitals of the mightiest and most highly polished of civilized nations. I have thoroughly enjoyed myself and now I am more glad than I can say to get home, to be back in my own country, back among people I love. And I am ready and eager to do my part so far as I am able in helping solve problems which must be solved if we, of this, the greatest democratic republic upon which the sun has ever shone, are to see its destinies rise to the high level of our hopes and its opportunities.

"This is the duty of every citizen, but it is peculiarly my duty; for any man who has ever been honored by being made President of the United States is thereby forever after rendered the debtor of the American people and is bound throughout his life to remember this as his prime obligation, and in private life as much as in public life so to carry himself that the American people may never have cause to feel regret that once they placed him at their head."

That is American spirit. It ought to be the spirit of every patriot in every line. Although he has held the highest place in the nation, he is now an humble citizen and willing to work for the benefit of all the people in any sphere to which he is called. It is highly probable that Mr. Roosevelt will never be a candidate for political office, but it is safe to say that his advice in matters political will be heeded always.

INTERESTING EXPERIMENT.

An interesting experiment in the nature of a convention is about to be held in the city of Little Rock, Ark. It will be a Catholic laymen's convention, to be attended by delegates from every parish in Arkansas. The meeting will be for the purpose of building up and encouraging a lay apostolate, by bringing to the notice of the men of the diocese the pressing needs of the church in the Far West. Ways and means of assisting the Bishop and priests of the diocese will be thoroughly discussed, and a movement started which will be the means not alone of a vigorous religious crusade, but also of the spiritual growth of the people. During the convention lectures and addresses will be delivered by some of the most prominent men in the Catholic church in the State of Arkansas. Each parish of the State is requested to send four delegates to the convention, which will give about 250 delegates. The convention and its results will be awaited with more than ordinary interest.

PLENTY NEGROES LEFT.

The editor of The Focus seems to be worrying about the disappearance of the negro. He cites news dispatches from Frankfort to show that the number of colored children of school age in Kentucky has decreased 15,000 in nine years, while the white children have increased 25,000 in the same period. The editor also cites reports of the City Health Officer to show that the number of negro births is decreasing and the number of deaths increasing. Then he wonders whether the negro is dying out or is leaving Kentucky for greener fields.

The Focus man need not worry. If he takes a jaunt along West Chestnut or West Walnut street any day or night he will find all the negroes necessary for his food for reflection.

It is recognized that one Tom Watson, of Populist fame, has returned to the Democratic fold and wants the party to celebrate by electing him to Congress. Thomas has been floundering around in the mud-banks of bigotry and hate for some time past. His silly mouth has been drooling poison. If the Democratic party—the party of the people—wants that kind of cattle to represent it in Congress, we are sorry for it. Watson is not capable of representing anything or anybody. Thus speaks the Syracuse Catholic Sun, which plays no favorites among those who are in any manner opposed to Christian religion and teaching.

Hurrah for the Germans and the Irish! shouts the Catholic Sun. Buffalo now has an Irish Liederkreis, the result to a great extent of marriage between young men and women of the two nationalities. It beats social surveys to a frazzle.

Dr. John B. Murphy, a prominent Irishman and leading physician of Chicago, has been chosen President of the American Medical Association.

Miss Katherine McTighe, who has been attending Nazareth Academy, spent several days in Louisville as the guest of Mrs. Val Lester. On Sunday she went to Memphis to spend vacation with her father.

The marriage of Joseph Schoo and Miss Catherine Tohe, both well known and popular in German Catholic society circles, will be solemnized with a nuptial mass on Tuesday morning at St. Boniface church.

Gorhardt Hinkelstein, eighty-seven years old, and one of the oldest residents of New Albany, sustained a stroke of paralysis on Monday. On account of his advanced age fears for his recovery are entertained.

D. J. Gleeson, Superintendent of the jewelry department of the J. M. Robinson-Norton Dry Goods Company, has been in New York and other Eastern cities on business during the past fortnight. He is expected to return home next week.

Fred. G. Ebsner and bride, who was Miss Mary C. Hill, will return from their honeymoon trip next week and be at home to their friends at 2614 Slevin street. Their marriage was solemnized at St. Mary's church on Wednesday morning of last week.

Miss Mary C. Lipps, of 1226 Shelby street, New Albany, and Clarence L. Smith, of 315 East Fourth street, New Albany, were united in marriage by the Rev. Father Curran at Holy Trinity church on Wednesday morning. Nuptial mass followed the wedding ceremony. Many friends of the young couple thronged the church and afterward offered their congratulations.

Miss May F. Shrader and Andrew A. Connell, popular young people of New Albany, were united in marriage at Holy Trinity church at 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Shrader, and the fortunate groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Connell of West Seventh street. Mr. and Mrs. Connell have gone to Omaha to take up their residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. McGinn entertained at their home, 515 West Chestnut street, on Thursday night of last week with a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Mary Florence Shrader, of New Albany, who became the bride of Andrew Connell this week. The parlors and dining room were decorated with American beauty roses and field daisies. The presents showered upon the bride-elect were numerous, ornamental and useful.

One of the last June weddings at St. Anthony's will be that which unites Miss Milda Schwieters and Edward Stemmel. The ceremony will be performed at 9 o'clock next Wednesday morning. The bridesmaids will be Misses Alma Schwieters and Carrie Liermann. The ushers will be Messrs. Leo Schulten, Edward Bosler, John Schwieters and John W. Waechter. After a Northern trip Mr. and Mrs. Stemmel will make their home in Cincinnati, where the fortunate groom is engaged in the lumber business. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schwieters. Mr. Stemmel formerly lived in Detroit. Both young people have many friends who wish them success on matrimonial seas.

ANOTHER DEGREE

Added to the Collegiate String of President Taft.

President Taft has annexed another university degree to the several that he already carried. This time he has attained the dignity of Doctor of Jurisprudence. The degree was conferred, too, by a Catholic institution, Villa Nova College, which is under the direction of the Augustinian Fathers. President Taft came into close contact with the Augustinians while he was Governor General of the Philippines. His admiration for that order has not diminished with time. Instead he seemed in his happiest mood when he reached Pennsylvania last Saturday.

Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia, twitted him about his many journeys. "You look well," said the Archbishop.

"Did you think I was getting old?" asked the President.

"No, but you look well for all the running around you do," retorted the Archbishop. "Why do you do it?"

"Well, I like to breathe this pure air," answered Mr. Taft, thus intimating that the air of a Catholic college was not contaminated by politics as is the atmosphere of Washington.

SUFFERS FROM INSOMNIA.

The Rev. Father Thomas McGuire, who has had temporary charge of St. Peter's parish, Stanley, Ky., has returned to his own diocese, Cleveland, Ohio. Serious illness, caused by long continued insomnia, has caused him to retire from the diocese of Louisville. While here, seeking restoration to health, he was for several months the guest of the Rev. Father Patrick Walsh, pastor of the church of the Sacred Heart. Later he had temporary charge of the church of St. Agnes, Louisville, and St. Francis, Chicago, Ky., during the absence of the regular pastors. From Chicago he was transferred to Stanley where he remained until last week. During his stay in the Louisville diocese Father McGuire won the hearts of all by his kindness, zeal and eloquence. His many friends hope that he will be speedily restored to good health.

COMES AFTER BRIDE.

Ernest Waller, a well-known and successful young business man of Lexington, and Miss Florence Daly, the pretty and accomplished daughter of Mrs. Mary Daly, 2300 West Jefferson street, will be united in the holy bonds of wedlock Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock by the Rev. Charles P. Raffo. The attendants will be Will Daly, brother of the bride, and Louis J. Kieffer. Following the nuptial ceremony there will be a wedding dinner for the immediate relatives at the home of the bride's mother, after which the happy couple will go for the Bismarck capital, where they will make their future home.

FLORENTINE ARTS.

Next Wednesday evening the Catholic men of the city of Flora Heights and vicinity will enjoy a lawn fete and picnic at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Philip McGovern, 2213 Lexington avenue, and a pleasant evening is assured all who are present. The most deserving added to a fund for the most deserving cause, and an invitation is extended to all who are charitably disposed. An interesting programme is being arranged for the fete.

RIVERVIEW.

Indianapolis Council will open camp about July 2, and will entertain with picnics and outings during the remaining two months.

Tomorrow at Oswego, N. Y., District Deputy Griffin, of New York City, will exemplify the third degree, and there will be 100 candidates.

The next Indiana Legislature will be asked to make October 12, Columbus day, a legal holiday. Fifteen States have passed the Columbus day law.

The two Milwaukee councils will hold a joint smoker Thursday evening. Business meetings for the summer season will then be discontinued.

The Knights of Elmira, N. Y., have under consideration plans for a new home, which if they mature will result in a fine club house on Lake street, just north of the City Hall.

SOUNDS BETTER.

Irish-American Actor Has New Version of Old Song.

Wherever there is an Irishman he loves the martial and rollicking air of "The Wearin' O' the Green," even though he dislikes the words ordinarily used with the air. The Fenians had another song, "By the Rising of the Moon," to the same air. The music is unmistakably Irish, but the words ordinarily used are the merest dross.

Dan Fitzgerald, an actor well known to the New York stage, recently furnished a new stanza of "The Wearin' O' the Green" to the Irish-American press. He does not claim that it is original. In fact, he is inclined to attribute it to the late Dion Boucicault. The stanza is more meritorious than any lately seen in connection with the music, and it runs thus:

O Ireland, dear Ireland,
Let foes say what they will,
The color that you always wore You'll proudly wear it still;
And for their cruel parchment laws
Care we a mere thranean,
While all our bills and valleys, too,
Are proudly decked in green.
Ah, the shamrock is a pretty plant,
Like love, it's always new,
It never fades in autumn,
But it blooms the wailer through;
That little plant shall deck my grave
When hawa can't intervene, Nor habes corpus acts prevent
"The Wearin' O' the Green."

GRADUATES DINED.

The junior class of the Academy of Our Lady of Mercy entertained the senior class with a delightful dinner at Riverview Park on Monday evening. Miss Lillian McNulty offered a toast to the graduates, and Miss Jennie Gnan responded. The graduates were Misses Jennie Gnan, Helen Gathof, Clara Hurst, Emma McBride, Mary J. Keeley and Susan Ryan. The juniors were Misses Agnes McGill, Rachel O'Brien, Gladys Hoerd, Loreta Desso, Lillian McNulty, Louise Fowler, Alexina Simon, Marie Louise Nobbe, Marie Gottbrath, Trula Bowman, Lillian Ross, Ethel Ryan and Marian Dunigan.

ST. XAVIER'S COLLEGE.

The large auditorium at St. Xavier's College was crowded on Tuesday and Thursday evenings by the parents and friends of the 500 pupils. The closing exercises were unusually entertaining and the orations showed careful thought and diligent research. The musical numbers won great applause. To add to the general enthusiasm Bishop O'Donoghue conferred the diplomas and presented the medals.

MRS. PREVILE BURNED.

Mrs. A. B. Previle, wife of one of the proprietors of the National Foundry Company, was severely burned at her home, 2330 West Chestnut street, on Wednesday. home week" at McKeesport, Pa., July 2 to 9, will be the formal opening of the magnificent new four-story Hibernian Temple, the property and future home of Division 16, known all over the country as the "division that does things."State President George J. Butler and Secretary William J. Connelly will pay an official visit to the Paris division on June 26. They will be accompanied by a number of prominent members of the order from this city, and if time permits will do some organizing work in Lexington.

LEAD ME, LORD.

Lead me, Lord, when doubt assails
me,
Help me when temptation's strong.
See my weakness, Lord, and guide
me
At the Cross—twist right and wrong.A voice from out the darkness cries:
Ob! God, let me my Saviour see.
Open, Lord, open mine eyes,
That I may feast them, Lord, on thee.As a child, dear Lord, you let me see You,
Can such joy be now attained?
If doubt must come with age and wisdom,
Can happiness e'er be truly gained?See, my Father, where doubt arises,
Was such the faith of Calvary's thief?Ahi you see I need thy guiding,
Help me, Lord, regain my belief.
E. J. Mallon.

TOURIST CENTER.

Americans Disprove Legend Rome Is Malarial Spot.If the Romans of a century ago were able to open their eyes they would be astonished to see the Eternal City a center of tourists without interruption during the whole year. The palm for this achievement must be given to the Americans, who first disproved the legend that Rome was a malarial spot in summer. For twenty years statistics have demonstrated that there has not been a single case of malaria of the old type of Rome fever in Rome—in the hospitals or among persons living in the town.Today over 2,000 Americans—quite an unprecedented number—are going about the Eternal City sightseeing, while an equal number are already booked in the hotels for July, August and September.Ex-President Roosevelt has been away from America something like fifteen months. He has traveled in many lands and has seen and talked to many peoples. Probably he never spoke to a more appreciative audience than that which crowded around him in the steeple of the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria last Sunday. Aboard that ship he attended a Catholic service held for the benefit of 1,200 Russian and Galician Poles. The improvised altar had been draped with an American flag.
Mr. Roosevelt was called upon to address the emigrants at the close of the service. He accepted willingly.He welcomed them to the United States; had them avoid association with strangers when they landed; exhorting them to be mindful of the duties of citizenship and to protect the rights of women. On the same day he addressed a gathering of German emigrants along similar lines. His remarks were translated by a Polish and a German Catholic priest. On Monday and Tuesday he addressed various crowds of passengers in French, German and Polish. On each occasion his interpreters were Catholic priests.

FOUNTAINE FERRY PARK.

Fontaine Ferry's management promises its patrons another fine line of attractions next week. The theater programme in particular looks promising, being made up of the following star acts: Onalpi,
the famous Hindoo musical mystifier;
J. Francis Dooley and Corinne Sales,
the world's greatest comedy duo; Williams, Thompson & Co. presenting "The Black Tourist;" Boudini Brothers, expert accordion players; Boh & Tip Company, in an acrobatic novelty, and some new motion-pictures.
Julia Martin, who has been singing with the hand this week, has been retained as soloist because of her instant popularity, and with Gregg's band will help make the free concerts again a delight.

EIGHTEEN VACANCIES.

The vacancies in the Sacred College now number eighteen, nearly three years having passed without the creation of a Cardinal. The last consistory took place December 16, 1907. When next consistory will be held is yet uncertain, but high church officials are inclined to the belief that the United States will receive one, and perhaps two, of the appointments.

LATEST STYLES.

The black satin coat of all lengths is favored.About nine out of ten handsome gowns are collarless.Dyed linen laces are high style for linen and cotton dresses.Among the new veillings are those with crepe-like borders.Chiffon, voiles, marquisettes and silk crepes are having a wonderful rage.Tiny little rooster heads are used as trimming for small girls' overday hats.The yoke and collar matching the color of the material are not often seen now.Upon all handsome or dressy gowns, sash, girdle, belt or bow effects of ribbon appear.Actual draperies are introduced only in suits of silk or lightweight materials.A good deal of soutaching is seen on some of the suits in odd hands and even arrangements.Something unique and exceedingly beautiful is the chrysanthemum opera bag in Irish crepe.

slipped when crossing a stone wall,
the contents of a gun he was carrying were discharged into his left breast, shattering one of the ribs and lodging in the lung.

THE WAY TO LIVE.

The secret of their long lives is frequently given by men and women who have passed the Biblical limit, but the best and truest rule not only for length of days but peace as well is that offered by Private John Clancy, of the Soldiers' Home, Milwaukee, who on May 1 completed his century. "There is but one way to live," he said, when asked what men should do to reach his number of years. "Have the will of God about you." If his name were unknown, the answer would announce him to be a son of Holy Ireland.

WANT NEW CATHEDRAL.

The city of Buffalo, N. Y., is to have a magnificent new Cathedral, and it is hoped that definite plans for its erection will be made in the near future. The diocese owns a commanding site with a frontage of 396 feet and a depth of 303 feet.
Bishop Colton has assurances of support whenever his plans are ready.

DRYDOCKS.

Of the thirty drydocks in the world large enough to hold battleships of the Dreadnought type, England and her colonies have ten and the United States nine.

RAILWAY BUILDING.

The United States built 3,784 miles of railroads last year and Canada 1,487. Of the former Texas built 666 miles, Nevada 303, California 247 and Washington 162.

TIMELY IDEA.

County President's Suggestion to Division 4, A. O. H.

President John H. Hennessy occupied the chair at a well attended meeting of Division 4, A. O. H., on Monday night. Michael McHugh and John O'Connor were reported on the sick list. All of the officers were present except Harry Brady, the Treasurer, who is not enjoying the best of health at present. It was announced that State President George J. Butler and County President Patrick J. Welsh would represent Louisville at the national convention which is to be held at Portland, Ore., next month.

Prayers were offered for the repose of the soul of Stephen J. Toomey, who died since the previous meeting. The members of Division 4 were glad to receive a communication from the Rev. Father Charles Christmas, their former chaplain, who is now stationed at the Dominican church at New Haven, Conn. The members extended him their best wishes for successful work in his new field.

County President Welsh was present and requested Division 4 to have its degree team initiate the class of Division 3 on June 29, when refreshments would be served and all would enjoy a pleasant evening. President Welsh also suggested that the Hibernians in Louisville have a memorial day as is done in other cities. In Irish centers in the East and West the Hibernians of cities and towns have a general memorial mass and vespers. The County President would like to see the same custom established here. The Picnic Committee then reported progress.

LOVING CUPS

For the Whallen Brothers Presented by Their Friends.

Admiring friends of Cois. John H. and James P. Whallen assembled at Riverview Park on Sunday night, and presented them with handsome silver loving cups. The affair had been handled with great secrecy and the Messrs. Whallen were taken completely unaware. Major William A. Colston made the presentation speech to Col. John Whallen, and Mayor W. O. Head presented a similar cup to James P. Whallen.

On the side of each cup a rooster, the emblem of Democracy, is engraved. On the reverse side is engraved the inscription: "Presented to Col. John H. Whallen by some of the boys in the trenches as a trophy of his splendid and successful services to the military Democracy of Louisville and Jefferson county in the campaign and election of 1909." The cups were similar in design with the names of Cois. John H. and James P. Whallen. The donors are among the leading Democrats in the city and county.

VILLANOVA

Will Today Confer Degree Upon President Taft.

Villanova College, said to be the only one which confers the degree of doctor of jurisprudence, will bestow that honor on President Taft when he attends the commencement exercises there today. But three others, one of whom was ex-President Cleveland, have received the degree.

President Taft will arrive at Villanova at 10:30 this morning and will be met by the Rev. Laurence A. Delaney, D. D., President of the college, members of the faculty, and a number of prominent Maine Line citizens, who have been invited to meet the Chief Executive.

The degree of doctor of laws will also be conferred on Secretary Charles Nagel, of the Department of Commerce and Labor, and the Rev. Francis Xavier McKeeney, of St. Charles College, Elliott City, Md. Villanova is conducted by the Augustinian Fathers and is one of the great Catholic seats of learning in the United States. The college was founded in 1842, and has about 500 students.

LOUISVILLE BOYS HONORED.

Several Louisville boys were in the limelight in the eighty-ninth annual commencement of St. Mary's College, Marion county, last Tuesday. Three sons of John T. Featherstone, formerly of Louisville and now of New Orleans, attained prominence in their respective departments. Raymond Featherstone won second honors in the commercial branches; Ronald Featherstone was distinguished in the junior military drill; and William Featherstone was honored with a place in the personnel of the commencement drama. Merlin Hogan, son of Capt. Michael Hogan, of the Louisville police department, was awarded the Lebanon Lumber Company's medal for excellence in gymnastics and athletics.

UP TO THE FANS.

The Louisville Colonels play at Minneapolis again this afternoon and tomorrow and then journey to St. Paul for a series of five games, beginning Monday. The remainder of improvement in the club's recent showing has again set the fans at fever heat and if the team makes a good showing on the road this trip, and judging from their playing of the last several days they are sure to do so, nothing will be too good for the boys on their return home. Manager Grayson and the club management have shown a disposition to please the fans by their recent changes in the club and it is up to the fans to reciprocate by giving them hearty support in return. The strongest line-up at present seems to be Hughes, c.; Howard, 1b.;

RECENT DEATHS.

Mrs. Lula Williams, a popular young matron of the West End, died at her home, 3125 Southern avenue, at noon on Wednesday. Her funeral took place from Holy Cross church yesterday morning and was attended by many friends of the deceased.

Many friends and relatives sympathized with John and Mary Joyce, 1818 North Eighteenth street, in their grief over the death of their infant son, John Martin. The funeral took place Tuesday, when the remains were tenderly laid to rest in St. Louis cemetery.

Mrs. Johanna Donnelly died at her home, 1610 West Chestnut street, at midnight Wednesday. She had been ill one year and suffered from a complication of ailments. The deceased is survived by her husband, John Donnelly, a son, Edward Gare, and a daughter, Miss Molly Gare. A brother, John Flynn, of Louisville, and a sister, Mrs. Nellie Driscoll, of Jeffersonville, also survive. Mrs. Donnelly was an aunt of Fire Chief Timothy Lehan. Her funeral took place from Sacred Heart church.

Hugh Houghton, a highly esteemed member of Holy Trinity church and an excellent resident of New Albany, passed peacefully away Monday morning at his home, 1743 East Elm street. He was seventy-three years old and was long a popular employee of the old Depauw glass works. The funeral took place Wednesday morning with a solemn mass of requiem, when the church was thronged with friends and relatives. Surviving are eight children, three sons and five daughters. They are Thomas Houghton, of Port Alleghe, Pa.; Hugh J. Houghton, Jr., and J. W. Houghton, of New Albany; Misses Jane and Rebecca Houghton, Mrs. Edward Jackson and Mrs. Jacob Hutt, of New Albany, and Mrs. Harry Egan, of Sellersburg.

PORTLAND VS. TASTE TELLS.

The Portland baseball club will meet the strong Taste Tels club of Indianapolis tomorrow afternoon at Portland Park. Doherty and Brady being the battery for Portland and Hewes and Schmidt for the Taste Tels. Interest in the coming game on July 10 between the Union Printers' club of Cincinnati and Portland still continues unabated and the hanner crowd of the season is expected at the popular West End park on that day. Louisville Typographical Union No. 10 at its meeting on last Sunday made an appropriation to entertain their fellow-craftsmen and the visitors from "Over the Rhine."

GOOD BYE.

St. Anthony's Flock Says Aufwiedersehen to Pastor.

The Very Rev. Father Leo Greulich, O. M. C., for ten years pastor of St. Anthony's church, bade farewell to his congregation on Thursday evening. It was a farewell of joy and sorrow, of smiles and tears. Sorrow and tears because he was leaving; smiles and joy because he was going to a higher post—to become Provincial of the Order of Minor Conventuals, with headquarters at Syracuse, N. Y., the mother house of the order in the United States. Father Leo is one of the most beloved pastors that ever lived in Louisville. He has been all that a priest should be, all that a good citizen should be, and more than that, he has entered heartily into the city's spirit of progress whenever the occasion offered.

Just as he succeeded the late Father Henry Miller as pastor of St. Anthony's, so has he succeeded him as Provincial. The people of St. Anthony's rejoice over his preferment and would be pleased to see still higher honors come to him, but whether he be elevated to the dignity of Bishop or Cardinal, he will be Father Leo to them.

The people of the congregation, St. Edward's Commandery, Knights of St. John and the Concordia Singing Society assembled in St. Anthony's school hall for the parting. Appropriate addresses were made to Father Leo and he replied in kind. The sentiment of all the talks was not a long farewell, but the good, old German "Aufwiedersehen."

RESOLUTIONS

On Death of Two Members of Clifton-Crescent Club.

The Clifton-Crescent Club, which is composed of prominent Catholic ladies and gentlemen of Clifton and Crescent Hill, has adopted resolutions on the death of Mrs. Fanny Smith Lyssaght and Miss Mattie K. Davidson. The resolutions are as follows:

The club is grieved and shocked over the recent demise of two of our beloved members, their deaths coming so close together making the loss harder to bear. In their every duty they were conscientious and faithful, especially so in their active interest and labors in the club and work for St. Francis of Rome church. In their family relations they were devoted and affectionate.

Their similar cheerful and kindly dispositions and manners endeared them to their associates and co-workers, and permit of the same terms of endearment and praise. We mourn their loss and will always hold them in warmest remembrance. To their respective families we extend our sincere sympathy in their great bereavement. This tribute is to be placed on the minutes of the club, a copy is to be sent to each of the bereaved families and to the Kentucky Irish American.

GRADUATES

Received Diplomas at St. Catherine's Famed Academy.

St. Catherine's Academy welcomed hundreds of parents and friends of its pupils to its spacious portals and beautiful grounds last Tuesday. It was the eighty-eighth annual commencement. Graduating honors were conferred on Misses Emily J. Talbott, of Bardonia; Plety and Mary C. Barber, of Springfield; Marie E. Maloney, of Louisville, and Miss Gladys W. Randall, of Dallas, Texas.

The programme was replete with vocal and instrumental music, essays and patriotic and religious dramas. At the close an able address was delivered by the Rev. Father William Dunn, O. P., of Louisville. He admonished the graduates to remember the lessons they had learned at St. Catherine's and to live lives of industry and self-sacrifice.

St. Catherine's is one of the oldest educational institutions in the State, but age has not impaired its vigor. Its graduates are able to compete with those of the best academies in the East.

GONE TO REST.

Patrick J. Ahern, aged forty-four years, brother of Michael and John Ahern, and one of the most active and widely-known men of the city, died Sunday afternoon at his residence, 709 East Oak street, after a short illness of dropsy. Pat Ahern had spent his life here, and was known for his high heartedness to the deserving poor and those in distress, who never appealed to him in vain. With the election of Edward Barry he became Deputy County Assessor and was one of the most obliging and popular officials about the Court House. Besides his brothers he leaves a wife and son and two sisters, Misses Mary and Margaret Ahern. The funeral took place Tuesday morning from St. Paul's church. Rev. Father Thomas York being the celebrant of the mass of requiem, which was attended by a large concourse of mourning friends and relatives.

PAID SHORT VISIT.

John T. Featherstone, Superintendent of Construction for the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Company, with headquarters at New Orleans, spent a week here visiting his children, relatives and friends. Before returning to the Crescent City Mr. Featherstone went to St. Mary's College to attend the commencement exercises. His sons, William and Raymond Featherstone, attained prominence in the exercises.
